The South-Carolina GAZETTE.

[Numb. 1923.] THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1772.

CHARLES-TOWN: Printed by T. POWELL & Co. at the Printing-Office near the EXCHANGE.

Mr. POWELL,

FROM the general Appearance and Character of your Gazette, I am led to imagine, that it is dedicated to a general Reception of all Subjects, expreſſed in any Language, which can be legally offered to it. This Piece, which I hope will find a Place in your next Gazette, is in plain Engliſh, and ſo tolerably decent, that it has not even the ſeaſoning of illiberal perſonal Abuſe. Such being the Caſe, ſurely you cannot have any Objection to publiſh theſe Strictures upon the four Reſolutions lately entered into by our preſent Commons Houſe of Aſſembly—eſpecially, as you, Mr. Printer, need not be under any Apprehenſions of Vengeance from our patriotic Aſſembly, when you know, that the Commons of Great-Britain, who are generally denominated Tyrants, have not yet dared, of their ſole Authority, to queſtion the Liberty of the Preſs, by attempting to puniſh the Publiſhers of even abuſive Condemnations of their Proceedings. This Paper being deſtined to detect, and to expoſe, to public View, the unconſtitutional Counſels and Proceedings of our C———s H—— of A———. I cannot allow my Attention to be caught by any Object of a leſs Conſequence. Therefore, without any Impropriety, I ſhall diſregard any Attack upon this Paper, from any two or three Perſons. Thus, if there ſhould be ſuch an Attack, the doughty Champions, will have an Opportunity to diſplay all their Reaſoning and Wit with the more Freedom, as they will have the Satisfaction of knowing before-hand, that there will not be any Danger of a Rebuff, where there will not be any Antagoniſt to contend with.

In the Commons Houſe of Aſſembly Oct. 30, 1772.

Reſolved, That as this Houſe did not exiſt when His Excellency formed his Plan of calling the General Aſſembly to Beaufort, His Excellency's Proceeding ſeems to be founded upon his Ill-will to the Body of the Freemen of this Province; inaſmuch as he thereby ſhewed his Purpoſe of injuring and affronting whomſoever the Freeholders of the Colony ſhould chuſe to repreſent them.

STRICTURE.——The calling the General Aſſembly to meet at Beaufort, or in any other Part of the Province, cannot conſtitutionally be deemed a Proceeding "to ſhew Ill-will to the Body "of the Freemen of this Province," or a "Purpoſe to injure "and affront whomſoever the Freeholders of the Colony ſhould "chuſe to repreſent them." BECAUSE, in the Language of the Law, and upon conſtitutional Principles, the lawful Exerciſe of conſtitutional Power cannot be deemed ſuch—and the conſtitutional Power in the King, of calling a Parliament to any Town, is at leaſt coeval with the Origin of Parliaments.

Reſolved, That His Excellency's calling the General Aſſembly to Beaufort, a Place very diſtant from Charles-Town, where ſuch Aſſemblies have always been held (except when malignant and contagious Diſeaſes raged therein) where all the Public Offices and Records are kept, at a Time highly dangerous to the Health, and inconvenient to the private Affairs of the Members, was a moſt unprecedented Oppreſſion, and an unwarrantable Abuſe of a Royal Prerogative, which hath never been queſtioned by the People of this Colony.

STRICTURE.——The calling the Aſſembly to Beaufort, cannot conſtitutionally be denominated "an Oppreſſion, and unwar-"rantable Abuſe of a Royal Prerogative." Becauſe, even in common Senſe, an Act having the Law for its Warrant, cannot be termed unwarrantable, even, although People may be pleaſed to call it an Abuſe: And, as I ſaid before, that Act which proceeds from the Law of the Land, cannot in the Language of the Law, and upon conſtitutional Principles, be termed Oppreſſion and Abuſe—Laws being made to remedy Oppreſſion and Abuſe; and ſuch Things cannot, in the Language of the Law exiſt, by the Operation of Laws which are aſſented to by the People.——Lex Angliæ non patitur abſurdum. COOK.

Reſolved, That the Governor's keeping at Beaufort, the fulleſt Houſe that ever met at the Beginning of any Seſſion, three Days, before he would receive them with their Speaker, and then immediately proroguing them, was adding Inſult to Injury, and plainly manifeſted his Contempt of the People's Repreſentatives.

STRICTURE.——The Delay to receive the Speaker, till on the third Day from the Return of the Writ of Election, and the then Prorogation of the Aſſembly, are Parliamentary Proceedings, ſo fully warranted, that they cannot conſtitutionally be termed "an Inſult" to, and "Contempt of the People's "Repreſentatives."———When the Conſtitution is treated of, it is neceſſary to adopt conſtitutional Ideas and Language. Had the Commons Houſe of Aſſembly entertained ſuch Ideas and Language, could they, with the leaſt Conſiſtency, have entered into ſuch Reſolves? For, of what have they ſo heavily complained? Only, that the Governor has exerciſed conſtitutional Powers of Government—That he had acted under the Authority of the Law—That in Parliamentary Proceedings, he had acted in ſuch a Manner, as was perfectly agreeable to the Laws of Parliament. What could the Houſe of Aſſembly have done, had the Governor violated the Laws of Parliament, and exerciſed Powers incompatible with our Conſtitution? Why, they would have formed Reſolves, and complained heavily to be ſure.—— Thus, let the Governor act in Conformity to our Laws, or let him violate them, he is ſure to be equally condemned by the Houſe of Aſſembly. They have now condemned him in the moſt ſevere Terms, for having acted agreeable to the Conſtitution; they cannot condemn him in more ſevere Terms, ſhould he violate the Laws.

Reſolved, That His Excellency's proroguing the General Aſſembly, without ſuffering them to ſit one Moment as a Legiſlative Body, was, at leaſt, an Evaſion, if not a direct Violation of the Election Law, which enacts, That the Sitting and Holding of General Aſſemblies ſhall not be diſcontinued, or intermitted, above Six Months, that Time being entirely expired, when His Excellency prorogued the Houſe.

STRICTURE——The General Aſſembly, was began and held at Beaufort, on the 10th Day of October. This is Matter of Record, and proves that the General Aſſembly had not been intermitted above ſix Months. Thus the Law in that Caſe, cannot be ſaid to be violated, neither can the then Prorogation of the General Aſſembly, be conſtitutionally termed an Evaſion of that Law. For by the Law of Parliament, the Prerogative can at any Time prorogue a Parliament: And ſurely the Exerciſe of a legal Power, cannot conſtitutionally be termed an Evaſion of Law.

It is worth Notice, that in the Meſſage which the Houſe of Aſſembly ſent to the Governor, on the of laſt Month, they make Uſe of this remarkable Paſſage, "We, by no Means "intend to diſpute his Power to meet the Aſſembly, to call the General "Aſſembly, at ſuch Time and Place AS HE THINKS BEST, for "the public Benefit." Thus, an abſolute and clear Judgment, is given by the Houſe, upon the conſtitutional Right of calling the General Aſſembly to Beaufort—The Words, "as he thinks "beſt," are concluſive upon the Point; and, if Reaſon or Conſiſtency, can avail any Thing, the Houſe muſt be held to have effectually precluded themſelves from any farther Examination and Judgment in the Caſe.——I muſt ſuppoſe the Houſe were not aware of the Force of this Paſſage, till they found it in the Governor's Reply—For then, immediately they make their Reſolves to contradict the Paſſage in their Meſſage. As, by the Reſolves, they condemn the Governor's Proceeding, thereby exalting themſelves to be abſolute Judges of that, which juſt a Day or two before, he had ſaid, he might do as he thought beſt. Thus, contradicting their Proceedings, and betraying an Inconſiſtency of Counſels and of Conduct.

Upon a conſtitutional Subject, I have made Uſe of the Word "conſtitutionally," as often almoſt as was poſſible, to convey a fixed Idea. Had the Houſe of Aſſembly proceeded upon conſtitutional Principles, they muſt have learned, that a Commons Houſe, have not any conſtitutional Right, even to enquire into the Propriety of the holding a General Aſſembly in any Town. They cannot make a conſtitutional Oppoſition to the King's Will in this Caſe. All the Law Books are clear and full upon this Point. Can Reaſon allow that political Body, to be conſtitutional Judges of the Propriety of the Place, whoſe Duty it is TO OBEY, and are, ipſo facto, created and called into Being, by the Writ of Summons?———When the Parliament was called to Oxford, by Charles the ſecond, no malignant Sickneſs reigned in London. There was not any popular Neceſſity to call the Parliament to Oxford. The Records had long been kept in London. The Parliament was ſummoned to Oxford only, becauſe the King thought fit to do ſo—Yet the Parliament obeyed; they did not even enquire into the Expediency of the Meaſure, although the Houſe abounded with bold Patriots, who well knew the Conſtitution of their Country.

The Houſe of Commons never preſumed, in any Shape, to introduce even a Queſtion upon this Point of Prerogative. And yet, it is to be preſumed, that they knew their Rights and Privileges.—That they knew when "the Repreſentatives of the Freeholders were injured and affronted."—That they knew whether or not, the being ſummoned to any particular Town, was "an Oppreſſion and unwarrantable Abuſe of the Royal Prerogative."—That they knew whether or not, the Delay to receive the Speaker till on the third Day, and then to prorogue the Parliament, "was an Inſult to, and Contempt of the People's "Repreſentatives."———But, it is reſerved for a Carolina Houſe of Repreſentatives, to underſtand the Engliſh Conſtitution, better than all the Houſes of Commons which ever exiſted. Therefore, our Repreſentatives declare thoſe Proceedings abuſive, affronting, oppreſſive, unwarrantable, and tyrannic; upon which, every Houſe of Commons have obſerved an uninterrupted Silence—Than which they could not give a more effectual Proof of their confeſſing them to be conſtitutional.——Did any lawful Houſe of Commons, ever iſſue Public Money of their ſole Authority?—No! Did any Houſe of Commons ever continue to ſit, and to make Reſolves, and Orders, and put Queſtions, after the King's Commands to attend him had been announced to them?—No! Did any Committee of the Houſe of Commons, ever meet as a Committee to tranſact Public Buſineſs, during a Prorogation?—No! Yet our Repreſentatives have done all theſe Acts, which are unprecedented in the Parliamentary Journals.—See! how learned our Repreſentatives are in the Proceedings of Parliament. See! how guiltneſs they are in making Innovations upon the Conſtitution.———Can ſuch Innovations proceed from Ignorance? I can ſcarce believe they proceed from a Malice prepenſe, deſigning to change, by Piece-Meal, the venerable Conſtitution of our Country.

CHARLES-TOWN: Printed by T. POWELL & Co. at the Printing-Office near the EXCHANGE.

An ESSAY on the moſt proper Method of bearing Misfortunes.

Good unexpected, Evil unforeſeen,
Appear by turns, as fortune ſhifts the Scene. DRYDEN.

DISSIPATION of mind, and length of time, are the remedies to which the greateſt part of mankind truſt in their afflictions. But the firſt of theſe works is temporary, the ſecond a ſlow effect; and both are unworthy of a wiſe man. Are we to fly from ourſelves, that we may fly from our misfortunes, and fondly to imagine, that the diſeaſe is cured, becauſe we find means to get ſome moments of reſpite from pain? Or ſhall we expect from time, the phyſician of brutes, a lingering and uncertain deliverance? Shall we wait to be happy, till we can forget that we are miſerable, and owe to the weakneſs of our faculties a tranquillity which ought to be the effect of their ſtrength? Far otherwiſe. Let us ſet all our paſt and preſent afflictions before our eyes. Let us reſolve to overcome them, not wearing out the ſenſe of them by long and ignominious patience. Inſtead of palliating remedies, let us uſe the inciſion-knife and the cauſtic, ſearch the wound to the bottom, and work an immediate and radical cure.

The recalling of former misfortunes ſerves to fortify the mind againſt later. He muſt bluſh to ſink under the anguiſh of one wound, who ſurveys a body ſeamed over with ſcares of many, and who has come victorious out of all the conflicts wherein he received them. Let ſighs, and tears, and fainting under the lighteſt adverſe fortune, be the portion of thoſe unhappy people, whoſe tender minds a long courſe of felicity has enervated; while ſuch, as have paſſed through years of calamity, bear up, with a noble and immoveable conſtancy, againſt the heavieſt. Uninterrupted miſery has this good effect, as it continually torments, it finally hardens.

Such is the language of philoſophy; and happy is the man that acquires the right of holding it. But this right is not to be acquired by pathetic diſcourſe. Our conduct can alone give it us: And therefore, inſtead of perſuming on our ſtrength, the ſureſt method is to confeſs our weakneſs, and, without loſs of time, to apply ourſelves to the ſtudy of wiſdom. This was the advice which the oracle gave to Zeno, and there is no other way of ſecuring our tranquillity, amidſt all the accidents to which human life is expoſed. Philoſophy has, I know, her thraſos as well as war; and, among her ſons, many there have been, who, while they aimed at being more than men, became ſomething leſs: The means of preventing this danger is eaſy and ſure; it is a good rule to examine well before we addict ourſelves to any ſect; but I think it a better rule to addict ourſelves to none. Let us hear them all, with a perfect indifferency on which ſide the truth lies; and, when we come to determine, let nothing appear ſo venerable to us as our own underſtandings. Let us gratefully accept the help of every one who has endeavoured to correct the vices, and ſtrengthen the minds of men; but let us chuſe for ourſelves, and yield univerſal aſſent to none. Thus, that I may inſtance the ſect already mentioned, when we have laid aſide the wonderful and ſurpriſing ſentences, and all the paradoxes of the portico, we ſhall find, in that ſchool, ſuch doctrines as our unprejudiced reaſon ſubmits to with pleaſure, as nature dictates, and as experience confirms. Without this precaution, we run the riſque of becoming imaginary Kings, and real ſlaves. With it, we may learn to aſſert our native freedom, and live independent on fortune.

In order to which great end, it is neceſſary that we ſtand watchful as centinels, to diſcover the ſecret wiles and open attacks of this capricious Goddeſs, before they reach us. Where ſhe falls upon us unexpected, it is hard to reſiſt; but thoſe who wait for her, will repel her with eaſe. The ſudden invaſion of an enemy overthrows ſuch as are not on their guard; but they who foreſee the war, and prepare themſelves for it before it breaks out, ſtand, without difficulty, the firſt and the fierceſt onſet. No man ſuffers by bad fortune, but he who has been deceived by good. If we grow fond of her gifts, fancy that they belong to us, and are perpetually to remain with us; if we lean upon them, and expect to be conſidered for them; we ſhall ſink into all the bitterneſs of grief, as ſoon as theſe falſe and tranſitory benefits paſs away, as ſoon as our vain and childiſh minds, unfraught with ſolid pleaſures, become deſtitute even of thoſe which are imaginary. But, if we do not ſuffer ourſelves to be tranſported, by proſperity, neither ſhall we be reduced by adverſity. Our ſouls will be proof againſt the dangers of both thoſe ſtates: And, explored our ſtrength, we ſhall be ſure of it; for, in the midſt of felicity, we ſhall have tried how we can bear misfortune.

Charles-Town, July 14, 1772.

THE Subſcriber is much obliged to his planting Friends, who, by landing their Crops at his Wharf for three Years paſt, have thereby introduced it to Buſineſs.—He acted as Factor during that Time, purely to prevent his Friends being Sufferers by their intended Kindneſs to him, as it was very induſtriouſly inſinuated, that Rice would not ſell at his Wharf; But as he is now well convinced, and flatters himſelf all his Friends are fully ſo too, that their Crops, landed in large or ſmall Parcels, will ſell altogether as well at his Wharf, as at any other in Charles-Town; and that any Gentlemen, principally concerned in the Factorage Way, will now have no Objection to receive and ſell Rice or Indico landed thereat: He therefore chooſes to decline that Buſineſs, finding it more than he is able to go through. He hopes his good Friends will ſtill land their Crops at his Wharf, where they may depend he ſhall take Care HIMSELF that their Boats have all poſſible Diſpatch.

As to the Safety and Conveniency of his Docks and Stores, he is ſure there are none preferable to them in Town in thoſe Reſpects, and few (if any) Barns in the Country are cooler and more ſecure from Fire; and it is almoſt impoſſible for a Barrel of Rice to be ſtolen in landing or ſhipping at his Wharf. Such Gentlemen as uſe his Wharf conſtantly, may depend on never wanting Storage whenever they do not like the going Price:—No prudent Planter but muſt be convinced, that this is a Matter of the utmoſt Conſequence to him, as many, for theſe three Years paſt, have had their Crops (when landed in Town) diſpoſed of very much againſt their own Inclinations and Judgments, merely for Want of Storage; and this he is ſure has been the Caſe, particularly this Year ſeveral Times, notwithſtanding the Shortneſs of the Crop.

Meſſrs. GIBBES & HORT,

Who have had long Experience in the FACTORAGE BUSINESS in all its Branches, and confine themſelves to that only, have taken the Charge of his Scales, and will tranſact their Buſineſs on his Wharf.—To theſe Gentlemen he begs Leave to recommend ſuch of his Friends who are not otherwiſe engaged.

Chriſtopher Gadſden.

N. B. Any Gentlemen in Trade may depend on not wanting STORAGE for ſuch Parcels of Rice as they purchaſe at his Wharf.

GIBBES & HORT,

ACQUAINT THEIR FRIENDS,

THAT THEY CONTINUE THE

Factorage Buſineſs in all its Branches,

(ON THE USUAL TERMS)

AND, for the Convenience of good Storage, will tranſact it on Captain GADSDEN's WHARF; where they deſire ſuch of their Friends, as it may be agreeable to, will order the Goods they intend to favour them with, being convinced, that they will ſell as well there, as at any other Place in CHARLES-TOWN.——Conſtant Attendance will alſo be given at their other Compting-Houſe on the BAY.

Their Friends will be ſupplied with proper Boats agreeable to their Orders: And they hope to merit a Continuance of their Favours, by a ſteady Attention to their Employers Intereſt, eſpecially as they are determined to confine themſelves to the Factorage Buſineſs only.—And they aſſure their Friends, that they are not in any Wiſe intereſted in Captain GADSDEN's Stores; ſo that whenever they ſhall think it neceſſary to ſtore for a better Market, it muſt be SOLELY with a View to their Friends Intereſt.

SUPPLEMENT to the South-Carolina GAZETTE.

[NUMB. 1923.] THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1772.

CHARLES-TOWN: Printed by T. POWELL & Co. at the Printing-Office near the EXCHANGE.

An ESSAY on the most proper Method of bearing Misfortunes.

Good unexpected, Evil unforeseen,
Appear by turns, as fortune shifts the Scene. DRYDEN.

DISSIPATION of mind, and length of time, are the remedies to which the greatest part of mankind trust in their afflictions. But the first of these works is temporary, the second a slow effect; and both are unworthy of a wise man. Are we to fly from ourselves, that we may fly from our misfortunes, and fondly to imagine, that the disease is cured, because we find means to get some moments of respite from pain? Or shall we expect from time, the physician of brutes, a lingering and uncertain deliverance? Shall we wait to be happy, till we can forget that we are miserable, and owe to the weakness of our faculties a tranquillity which ought to be the effect of their strength? Far otherwise. Let us set all our past and present afflictions before our eyes. Let us resolve to overcome them, not wearing out the sense of them by long and ignominious patience. Instead of palliating remedies, let us use the incision-knife and the caustic, search the wound to the bottom, and work an immediate and radical cure.

The recalling of former misfortunes serves to fortify the mind against later. He must blush to sink under the anguish of one wound, who surveys a body seamed over with scares of many, and who has come victorious out of all the conflicts wherein he received them. Let sighs, and tears, and fainting under the lightest adverse fortune, be the portion of those unhappy people, whose tender minds a long course of felicity has enervated; while such, as have passed through years of calamity, bear up, with a noble and immoveable constancy, against the heaviest. Uninterrupted misery has this good effect, as it continually torments, it finally hardens.

Such is the language of philosophy; and happy is the man that acquires the right of holding it. But this right is not to be acquired by pathetic discourse. Our conduct can alone give it us: And therefore, instead of perfuming on our strength, the surest method is to confess our weakness, and, without loss of time, to apply ourselves to the study of wisdom. This was the advice which the oracle gave to Zeno, and there is no other way of securing our tranquillity, amidst all the accidents to which human life is exposed. Philosophy has, I know, her thrasos as well as war; and, among her sons, many there have been, who, while they aimed at being more than men, became something less: The means of preventing this danger is easy and sure; it is a good rule to examine well before we addict ourselves to any sect; but I think it a better rule to addict ourselves to none. Let us hear them all, with a perfect indifferency on which side the truth lies; and, when we come to determine, let nothing appear so venerable to us as our own understandings. Let us gratefully accept the help of every one who has endeavoured to correct the vices, and strengthen the minds of men; but let us chuse for ourselves, and yield universal assent to none. Thus, that I may instance the sect already mentioned, when we have laid aside the wonderful and surprising sentences, and all the paradoxes of the portico, we shall find, in that school, such doctrines as our unprejudiced reason submits to with pleasure, as nature dictates, and as experience confirms. Without this precaution, we run the risque of becoming imaginary Kings, and real slaves. With it, we may learn to assert our native freedom, and live independent on fortune.

In order to which great end, it is necessary that we stand watchful as centinels, to discover the secret wiles and open attacks of this capricious Goddess, before they reach us. Where she falls upon us unexpected, it is hard to resist; but those who wait for her, will repel her with ease. The sudden invasion of an enemy overthrows such as are not on their guard; but they who foresee the war, and prepare themselves for it before it breaks out, stand, without difficulty, the first and the fiercest onset. No man suffers by bad fortune, but he who has been deceived by good. If we grow fond of her gifts, fancy that they belong to us, and are perpetually to remain with us; if we lean upon them, and expect to be considered for them; we shall sink into all the bitterness of grief, as soon as these false and transitory benefits pass away, as soon as our vain and childish minds, unfraught with solid pleasures, become destitute even of those which are imaginary. But, if we do not suffer ourselves to be transported, by prosperity, neither shall we be reduced by adversity. Our souls will be proof against the dangers of both those states: And, explored our strength, we shall be sure of it; for, in the midst of felicity, we shall have tried how we can bear misfortune.

To be SOLD at public Sale,

On WEDNESDAY Morning the 11*th of* November,

As the Lots are staked out, so that any Gentleman may view them, and their Situation is well known, nothing farther need be added here, save, that the Purchasers may have One or Two Years Credit, paying Interest, and giving Security if required; or if it suits any to pay this Crop, good Rice will be taken at the current Market-Price, any Time before the First of February next.

N. B. He desires those whose Accounts have been long standing, to discharge them immediately.

Charles-Town, July 14, 1772.

THE Subscriber is much obliged to his planting Friends, who, by landing their Crops at his Wharf for three Years past, have thereby introduced it to Business.—He acted as Factor during that Time, purely to prevent his Friends being Sufferers by their intended Kindness to him, as it was very industriously insinuated, that Rice would not sell at his Wharf: But as he is now well convinced, and flatters himself all his Friends are fully so too, that their Crops, landed in large or small Parcels, will sell altogether as well at his Wharf, as at any other in Charles-Town; and that any Gentlemen, principally concerned in the Factorage Way, will now have no Objection to receive and sell Rice or Indico landed thereat: He therefore chooses to decline that Business, finding it more than he is able to go through. He hopes his good Friends will still land their Crops at his Wharf, where they may depend he shall take Care HIMSELF that their Boats have all possible Dispatch.

As to the Safety and Conveniency of his Docks and Stores, he is sure there are none preferable to them in Town in those Respects, and few (if any) Barns in the Country are cooler and more secure from Fire; and it is almost impossible for a Barrel of Rice to be stolen in landing or shipping at his Wharf. Such Gentlemen as use his Wharf constantly, may depend on never wanting Storage whenever they do not like the going Price:—No prudent Planter but must be convinced, that this is a Matter of the utmost Consequence to him, as many, for these three Years past, have had their Crops (when landed in Town) disposed of very much against their own Inclinations and Judgments, merely for Want of Storage; and this he is sure has been the Case, particularly this Year several Times, notwithstanding the Shortness of the Crop.

Messrs. GIBBES & HORT,

Who have had long Experience in the FACTORAGE BUSINESS in all its Branches, and confine themselves to that only, have taken the Charge of his Scales, and will transact their Business on his Wharf.—To these Gentlemen he begs Leave to recommend such of his Friends who are not otherwise engaged.

Christopher Gadsden.

N. B. Any Gentlemen in Trade may depend on not wanting STORAGE, for such Parcels of Rice as they purchase at his Wharf.

GIBBES & HORT,

ACQUAINT THEIR FRIENDS,
THAT THEY CONTINUE THE
Factorage Business in all its Branches,
(ON THE USUAL TERMS)

AND, for the Convenience of good Storage, will transact it on Captain GADSDEN's WHARF; where they desire such of their Friends, as it may be agreeable to, will order the Goods they intend to favour them with, being convinced, that they will sell as well there, as at any other Place in CHARLES-TOWN.——Constant Attendance will also be given at their other Compting-House on the BAY.

Their Friends will be supplied with proper Boats agreeable to their Orders: And they hope to merit a Continuance of their Favours, by a steady Attention to their Employers Interest, especially as they are determined to confine themselves to the Factorage Business only.—And they assure their Friends, that they are not in any Wise interested in Captain GADSDEN's Stores; so that whenever they shall think it necessary to store for a better Market, it must be SOLELY with a View to their Friends Interest.
